

MANAGEMENT SYSTEM

[ABSTRACT]

5 In order to make it easier to find desired information, this management system is provided with: a storage unit (12) for storing node information representing either a keyword for information relating to an object to be monitored or a management point in an object to be monitored; a map creation unit (10) that uses the node information stored in the storage unit (12) as a basis to create map information in which a plurality of nodes are connected; and a display
10 unit (20) that displays a map screen corresponding to the map information created by the map creation unit (10).

FIG. 1