

ABSTRACT

A resist liquid storage container includes: a bag portion, which is flexible and includes a receptacle portion configured to store a resist liquid; an injection tube, which communicates to the receptacle portion and is configured to inject the resist liquid; and a discharge tube, which communicates to the receptacle portion and is configured to discharge the resist liquid to an outside of the resist liquid storage container.