

CROSS TECHNOLOGY RETICLES

ABSTRACT

A method of fabricating a device is presented. The method includes forming a mask that includes multiple images. A substrate is patterned using the mask. An image of the multiple images corresponds to a respective patterning process. The substrate is processed further to complete the processing of the substrate to form the desired function of the device.

Fig. 11