

ZIRCONIA-BASED TIPPED BLADES HAVING MACROCRACKED
STRUCTURE AND PROCESS FOR PRODUCING IT

Abstract

A compressor or turbine blade having its tip coated with a zirconium-based oxide having a plurality of macrocracks extending at least 100 microns through the coating and the process used to produce such a coating.