

SILICON DIOXIDE DEPOSITION BY PLASMA ACTIVATED EVAPORATION PROCESS

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

5 A plasma activated reactive deposition process is used to deposit silicon oxide scratch resistant coatings on various substrates. The process comprises evaporating silicon or silicon oxide into an argon and nitrous oxide plasma which is directed to the surface to be coated

10

Figure 1