(54) Title: THREE-DIMENSIONAL NOUGHTS AND CROSSES TYPE OF GAME

(57) Abstract The present invention relates to a three-dimensional noughts and crosses game in which games pieces are placed in attachment means located at the apexes, lines of intersection and upon the generally planar surfaces of a body member, notably a solid or hollow cube, so as to create lines of games pieces which extend in three dimensions across the junction of at least two of the surfaces of the cube.
