CLAIMS

1. A zip with automatic coupling comprising:

   a part fixed to the clothing;

   an exchangeable part;

   one zip closure and one slider;

   wherein the fixed part comprises first joining elements permanently solidly joined to a garment by one of the sides thereof and which can be joined on the opposite side to the exchangeable part, and second joining elements disposed longitudinally on the exchangeable part in parallel with respect to the zip closure and fixed to said zip closure, wherein the first joining elements and the second joining elements together forming a male-female joint or clip joint without sliders, and wherein the part fixed to clothing is joined to the exchangeable part, comprising the zip closure, by the second joining elements.

2. The zip according to claim 1, wherein the zip closure is a double slider zip.