

INFORMATION PROCESSING APPARATUS, INFORMATION PROCESSING
METHOD, PROGRAM, AND INFORMATION PROCESSING SYSTEM

ABSTRACT

5

There is provided an information processing apparatus including an acquisition control unit configured to acquire information on function extension from an external object, the information on the function extension including attribute information indicating a function of a device and connection information relating to a connection to the device, and a function control unit configured to extend a function of the information processing apparatus based on the acquired attribute information, connect to a device corresponding to the extended function based on the acquired connection information, and enable the extended function.

15 Representative Drawing

FIG. 16