

RUBBERS WITH TUNABLE LEVELS OF METAL CONTAINING ANTI-AGGLOMERANTS

5

ABSTRACT

The invention relates to an efficient process for the preparation and isolation of rubber particles formed in aqueous media having a tunable level of metal containing anti-agglomerants and rubber particles obtained thereby. The invention further relates to 10 copolymer products comprising the same or derived therefrom.

Figure: None