SOMATIC CELL REPROGRAMMING

Abstract

The present invention relates to methods for reprogramming a somatic cell to pluripotency by administering into the somatic cell at least one or a plurality of potency- determining factors. The invention also relates to pluripotent cell populations obtained using a reprogramming method.

(No suitable figure)