

SEASONING COMPOSITION FOR IMPARTING COOKED FLAVOR

Abstract

The present invention provides a seasoning composition for imparting a cooked flavor to foods and beverages. A means for achieving the object is a seasoning composition containing inosinic acid or a salt thereof, alanine, and sucrose in specific amounts relative to sodium glutamate.

No available figure