

INJECTION DEVICES

ABSTRACT

The invention relates to an injection device which comprises an application element, at least one injection needle, an injection needle housing, a drive system for the injection movement, and a retraction system, wherein a substance is injected during the retraction movement of the injection needle.

Figure 9