

Abstract

A ring for an electrode includes three or more silicon members (38) having an arc shape and a joining part joining the silicon members (38). The joining part contains boron oxide.