(54) Title: SCALING WINDOW IN VIDEO CODING

FIG. 13

(57) Abstract: Techniques for video processing, including video coding, video decoding and video transcoding are described. One example method includes performing a conversion between a video comprising a video picture and a bitstream of a video according to a rule, wherein the rule specifies that syntax elements indicate a first width and a first height of a scaling window for the video picture, and wherein the rule specifies that a range of permissible values for the syntax elements include values greater than or equal to two times a second width of the video picture and two times a second height of the video picture.
