

Abstract

MACHINE GUN

The present invention relates to a machine gun comprising a feed channel for a belt for 5 ammunition, and a cover for said feed channel, wherein the closing movement of the cover results in the longitudinal position of the ammunition belt being adjusted within the feed channel.

(Fig .2)