PRINTING AND DEVELOPING APPARATUS

ABSTRACT

A method and apparatus for printing and processing a color image onto a photosensitive material. The apparatus includes a digital color printer for printing an image onto a photosensitive material and a processing section for processing the photosensitive material that has been passed through the digital printer. The processing section having a low volume thin processing channel for processing the photosensitive material.

This Sheet Has Been Replaced

