

ABSTRACT

In a setting method of turning characteristics of an automated vehicle driving system, driving patterns for acquisition of a parameter of turning characteristics are generated automatically (step S4). Data concerning the turning characteristics of a vehicle is acquired through automated driving of the vehicle with the generated driving patterns (step S5). The parameter is set based on the acquired data (step S6).

FIG. 7