

[Document Name] Abstract

As an approach of efficiently inducing differentiation from pluripotent stem cells into insulin-producing cells, provided is a method comprising the step of three-dimensionally culturing cells in a medium containing a dihydroindolizinone derivative.