

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

The present invention discloses a method and system for providing portable curriculum vitae, wherein, a user of the first client logs into the server and records the user's curriculum vitae items data via a server, therefore, it can record the different work items on curriculum vitae and no longer need to input the data manually. It's also can sign-off the curriculum vitae data corresponding to the first client through the users of a second client and a third client. In this way, users participate in different projects through the present invention, it can record the curriculum vitae data, let it become the personal curriculum vitae.