(54) Title: MULTI-SIDED PROJECTION SYSTEM

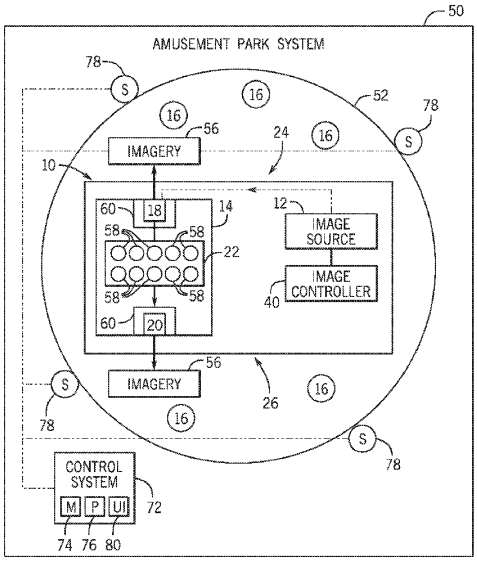

FIG. 2

(57) Abstract: A projection system for an entertainment venue includes a display having a first display surface and a second display surface, a light transmission system comprising a plurality of light transmitters extending between the first display surface and the second display surface, and an image source configured to project imagery onto the first display surface for reflection by the first display surface, wherein each of the plurality of light transmitters is configured to direct light associated with the imagery projected onto the first display surface to the second display surface.
