

ABSTRACT

A device in which bit pattern data for generating bit patterns required for creating various fonts are prepared. The device stores data for specifying the font of a character which is to be prepared for printing in a nonvolatile memory and automatically generates the font by reading the data from the nonvolatile memory at the start of a printer.

This Sheet Has Been Replaced

THIS SHEET HAS BEEN REPLACED