Abstract

MODIFICATION METHOD FOR SHEET-SHAPED CELL CULTURE

An object is to modify a sheet-shaped cell culture after its formation so that the content ratio of at least two types of cells constituting it is changed.

The above-described object has been achieved by providing a method including a step of immersing the sheet-shaped cell culture, which contains the at least two types of cells, in a low nutrient isotonic solution.