

METHOD FOR SEPARATING AN EFFLUENT OBTAINED IN AN OLIGOMERIZATION STEP

Abstract

The present invention relates to a process for treating an effluent obtained from an 5 oligomerization step in a vaporization step. In particular, the oligomerization step is a step for dimerization of ethylene to 1-butene with a nickel-based catalytic system.

[No Figure]