

Abstract:

Method of and device for detecting pulsatory interference signals in a sound signal.

For detecting pulsatory interferences in a sampled sound signal, a given signal sample is compared with previous as well as subsequent signal samples and, based on this comparison, the given signal sample is identified as an interference pulse.

5 (Fig. 1).

---

This Sheet Has Been Replaced

