Flow Detection

Abstract

A pipe clogging detecting device (4) which incessantly monitors states of a pipe through which fluid is flowing, and when clogging occurs, immediately alarms the occurrence to operators. The device comprises a plurality of containers (1,2), a pipe (3) interconnecting the containers, a vibration sensor (13) provided on the pipe, and detecting means for detecting occurrence of clogging in the pipe, based on output signals from the vibration sensor.

Figure 1

REPLACEMENT SHEET
14 APR 1998