

TERMINAL, BASE STATION, AND COMMUNICATION METHOD

ABSTRACT

This terminal comprises: a reception circuit that receives control information corresponding to a downlink message in a random access procedure; and a control circuit
5 that determines a setting for the repeated transmission of an uplink control signal for the downlink message, on the basis of a value of a field related to a setting different from the setting for the repeated transmission, in the control information.

Figure 2