

ABSTRACT

The present invention relates to a method of providing a battery replacement service and an apparatus for performing the method. A method of providing a battery replacement service
5 comprises collecting, by a battery data collection unit, data about a battery, collecting, by an electric vehicle data collection unit, data about an electric vehicle, determining, by a battery replacement target determination unit, a target battery to be replaced among batteries, determining, by a battery replacement timing determination unit, a replacement timing of the target battery, determining, by a battery replacement place determination unit, a replacement
10 place of the target battery and providing, by a battery replacement service providing unit, a replacement service for the target battery.

Fig. 1 for publication.