

ABSTRACT

A massage apparatus includes a massage system, a scent-emitting module, and a microcontroller respectively connected with the massage system and the scent delivery module, the microcontroller being operable to activate the massage system to apply a
5 massage action and to activate the scent-emitting module to emit an aromatic scent.

Fig. 7