

ABSTRACT

Provided is a comprehensive utilization method for a biomass containing amorphous silicon dioxide. The method comprises: pyrolyzing the biomass under anaerobic conditions, collecting the pyrolyzed gas produced; and then calcining under aerobic conditions so as to obtain the amorphous silicon dioxide. The biomass is rice hulls.