

162162

G00002

TERMINATION MODULE

Abstract

A termination module with two rows of termination sites on a front side and two rows of termination sites on a back side, the termination sites being electrically connected by conductors extending from front to back, wherein the conductors have intermediate contacts adapted to receive insertion devices therebetween.

Figure 1