

ABSTRACT

A fan wherein an output shaft of an electric motor extending out an outer shell has the output shaft having an increased projection length. There is provided a 5 mounting plate through which the output shaft passes and which confronts a side of the outer shell with the output shaft extending therefrom. A space is provided between the mounting plate and the motor to collectively arrange electrical parts required for operation of the fan.

This Sheet Has Been Replaced

THIS SHEET HAS BEEN REPLACED
