

METHOD FOR SEPARATING GLYCOPEPTIDESAbstract

The present invention relates to a method for separating, from a mixture containing two or more types of glycopeptides selected from glycoamino acids and glycooligopeptides, the glycopeptides according to the number of amino acids by passing the mixture through reversed-phase liquid chromatography.

[Fig.2]