Abstract of the Disclosure

Methods of forming T-gate structures on a substrate are provided that use only UV-sensitive photoresists. Such methods provide T-gate structures using two lithographic steps using a single wavelength of radiation.