

Abstract:

Method for the electrochemically stripping of gas turbine components (1) made of Titanium alloys or stainless steels in an electrolyte solution (2), wherein the gas turbine component (1) comprises a multilayer system (13) on the surface and is polarized as anode, and wherein the electrolyte solution (2) comprises sodium carbonate and a tartrate source.

(Fig. 1)