METHODS AND DEVICES FOR ASSESSING INFERTILITY AND/OR EGG QUALITY

Abstract

The invention generally relates to methods and devices for assessing infertility. In certain embodiments, methods of the invention involve conducting an assay to determine presence or absence of a mutation in a plurality of genes selected from Table 1, and assessing infertility based on results of the assay, wherein presence of a mutation in at least two of the genes from Table 1 is indicative of infertility.

Figure: 1