

ABSTRACT:

The present invention relates to a process for the preparation of a novel composition, and to the use of the composition as a phosphate adsorbent, in particular for 5 administration in humans or animals.