

Process for producing polyamide powders by precipitation

Abstract

- 5 The present invention relates to a process for producing polyamide powders and to the polyamide powders obtainable by this process. The present invention additionally relates to the use of the polyamide powder as sintering powder in selective laser sintering.