

ABSTRACT

TITLE OF INVENTION: TICKET VERIFICATION SYSTEM AND METHOD

A ticket verification method includes: generating a first verification code according to ticket information by a mobile device, the mobile device triggered by a trigger signal to obtain at least one of current location information and current time information, generating a second verification code according to said at least one by the mobile device, switching a display of displayed verification codes including the first and second verification codes by the mobile device, obtaining the first and second verification codes to obtain the ticket information and said at least one by a verification device, outputting a third verification code when the ticket information and said at least one pass verification by the verification device, obtaining a to-be-verified code displayed by the mobile device by the verification device after, and outputting an entry allowed signal when the to-be-verified code matches the third verification code by the verification device.

[Fig.1]