

ABSTRACT

[Problem to be solved] To further develop conventional technique.

- 5 [Solution] a cartridge includes a casing, a photosensitive drum and a coupling.
the coupling includes a driving force receiving portion for receiving a driving force by engagement with a driving force application member, a braking force receiving portion for receiving in braking force by engagement with a braking force application member, and a guide for moving the braking force application 10 member relative to the driving force application member.