

ABSTRACT:

A pathway modulator, a pharmaceutical composition having same, use thereof, and a therapeutic method using same. The pathway modulator (comprising one or more of a dopamine β -hydroxylase inhibitor, a receptor agonist and a receptor antagonist) can inhibit development of autoimmune diseases by immunoregulation, thereby providing potential therapeutic drugs for the treatment of autoimmune diseases.