DELETION MUTANTS OF FLAGELLIN AND METHODS OF USE

ABSTRACT

Compositions that include Toll-like Receptor 5 agonists and at least a portion of at least one influenza antigen can be employed in methods that stimulate an immune response in a subject, in particular, a protective immune response in a subject. Compositions can be associated with particles and employed in the methods in relatively low doses to provide protective immunity to viral infection.

No suitable figure