

Abstract

Provided in the present invention is the use of Moraxella osloensis, which is used for skin typing, characterizing skin conditions or for preparing a reagent or a kit for 5 characterizing skin conditions. Further provided in the present invention is a marker combination, comprising the following markers: Moraxella osloensis and Propionibacterium acnes. Also provided in the present invention is the use of the marker combination in skin typing and/or judgment of skin conditions.

10 No Figure