

ABSTRACT

A video processing method and apparatus, and a terminal device. The method comprises: on the basis of a first application, displaying a first video, the first video comprising a banner window, and the banner window being associated with a first audio published in a second application; in response to a touch operation on the banner window, displaying a playback page of the first audio in the first application; and playing the first audio.