

Method for producing a ring-shaped oxidic molded body

Abstract

- 5 A process for producing a ringlike oxidic shaped body by mechanically compacting a pulverulent aggregate introduced into the fill chamber of a die, wherein the outer face of the resulting compact corresponds to that of a frustococone.