

AbstractProcess for oligomerizing olefins with streams having a reduced olefin content

- 5 The present invention relates to a process for oligomerizing C2- to C8-olefins in several reaction stages in which the starting mixture and the respective outputs from the reaction stages are separated and are fed to different reaction stages.

[No suitable figure]