ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

According to the present invention, a method which dissolves hydrogen in a liquid that includes a radioactive substance is able to reduce the amount of radioactivity of the liquid . With respect to this method, the radioactive substance may include radioactive cesium, and hydrogen may be dissolved in the liquid by mixing a substance that includes a radioactive substance with a hydrogen water that contains 1.0 ppm or more of hydrogen.