

ABSTRACT

An insulation layer etchant composition includes phosphoric acid, a silane compound including at least one of a mono-functional silane compound and a di-functional silane compound, and a remainder of water. A selective etching process
5 having an improved time-dependent stability is achieved by the silane compound.

FIG. 3