

ABSTRACT

In a chair (1) having a backrest (4) which can be reclined backwardly against the action of spring means, the latter comprises a leaf spring (20) having its central portion operatively connected to the base structure (2) of the chair and its ends connected to two side arms (4a) which support the backrest (4).

(Figures 1, 3)

This Sheet Has Been Replaced

THIS SHEET HAS BEEN REPLACED