

ABSTRACT

An embodiment of the present disclosure provides an image generating method and apparatus, and a detecting method and apparatus. By performing a transformation process on an image involving a non-game prop object as a target object to obtain a transformed image, and then superimposing the transformed image in a game scene image, a game scene image involving the target object can be quickly generated, thereby reducing image acquisition costs.

[Fig. 2]