

ABSTRACT

The present disclosure provides a video processing method and apparatus, a device and a storage medium; the method comprises: in response to a trigger operation acting on a preset title area of a video playback page, displaying a title detail page according to a preset display style; the preset title area displaying therein title description information of a target video; displaying on the title detail page a multimedia resource entrance associated with the target video, and at least one function link entrance; the associated multimedia resource entrance being used for triggering a jump from the title detail page to a multimedia resource display page, and the function link entrance being used for triggering a jump from the title detail page to a function page corresponding to the function link entrance.